The firm is composed of John Taylor, Julian Taylor and Hayward Taylor, all well known to the farmers of this section of the county, having been identified with the business life of the city for several years.

The new firm has bought the building formerly used by Dorsey Brothers as a body shop, which will be used for storage rooms. This 100x250 foot building covers half of the block directly in front of The Clipper office. New scales have been installed on the Buford street side of the building, and ample drive-ways have been made for the convenience of trucks and wagons. In addition to peanuts, cotton seed and hay, the firm will buy all kinds of farm produce.

Later they expect to handle farm equipment if suitable lines can be secured. Taylor Mule Company will continue its operations at the present location.

PEANUT PRODUCERS MAY GET MORE HELP IN HARVESTING CROP

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30. — Encouraging assurances that producers of war will be made available in sufficient quantities to insure the proper harvesting of peanuts in South Alabama have been received from Department of Agriculture Manpower Commission and War Department authorities, according to report by Congressman George Andrews, of the Third Alabama District.

"There should be no loss of peanuts because of shortage of labor," Judge Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, Agriculture Department, has told Congressman Andrews, "if there is a full cooperation between farmers, cotton people, the Agricultural Extension Service and the Fourth Service Command."

Lt. Col. Wilson R. Buie, of the Office of Labor, War Food Administration, is on his second trip within ten days into South Alabama and South Georgia to survey the manpower problem and to make immediate recommendations on steps required to overcome any emergency that arise.

A representative of the Fourth Service Command is also in Alabama and War Department officials have promised that he will keep them advised what action is necessary to correct labor shortages.

War Manpower commission executives at Montgomery have suggested that if the labor shortage is so severe that a loss of peanuts in the field looms, there should be ordered a diversion of war prisoners from the lumber and pulp industries as a temporary expedient to assure adequate peanut harvesting.

The War Food Administration has told Congressman Andrews that from 20,000 to 25,000 war prisoners are on call by the Fourth Service Command for all manpower purposes and the WFA has indicated that it should be possible to call on the War Department for needed manpower when the urgency arises.

IN MEMORY OF WILLIAM LEVY SPURLIN

SOCIAL

MRS. BRUCE FETED WITH SHOWER

On Friday afternoon, the 25th of August, a beautiful miscellaneous bridal shower was given at the home of Mrs. Arden Bradley honoring Mrs. W. H. Bruce, formerly Bette Braswell, a bunch wearily greeted on arrival by Miss Jule Bradley and presented to the receiving line, composed of Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Bruce, the honoree, Mrs. W. C. Braswell, her mother, Miss Eunora Farris, Miss Nona Braswell and Miss John Griffin, of Enterprise.

A wealth of summer flowers adorned the effective combination of pink roses, dahlias, peonies, gladioli and dainty lilies in soft shades of pink and blue were used in the music room. Miss Mary Will Kendrick registered guests and ushered them to the dining room where Misses Carolyn English and Ann Wright presided.

The dining room was in traditional green and white. The table was most artistic, spread with handmade lace cloth, over green satin, and centered with the crystal punch bowl, around which were sprays of dainty fern and white lilies. Slender white tapers in crystal holders, cast a soft glow over the scene. Stemmied candles held in silver holders and nuts were at spaced intervals on the table. Delicious sandwiches and punch were served.

Numerous and attractive gifts were displayed by Miss Nell Young and Mrs. Dick Harlan.

Mrs. W. C. Braswell wore an attractive model of deep purple crepe with matching accessories. Her hair was red carnations. Mrs. Bruce was attired in an early fall costume of black and white, with harmonizing accessories and a corsage of gardenias and stephanotis.

During the afternoon a program of music was presented by Miss Hattie Mae Braswell, pianist, Miss Helen Braswell, young sister of the bride, soloist.

Have You Paid-Up Your Subscription This Month?

If you haven't, your name will be dropped from the mailing list. The label on which your name is printed shows when your time expired. If the figures following your name read like this: "9 25 44" that means that your time will be out on Sept. 25, 1944. The first figures indicate the month, the second figures indicate the day of the month, last figures the year.

The War Production Board, which controls the supply of newsprint paper, has instructed all papers to drop names from the mailing list promptly ON THE DAY OF EXPIRATION. We are trying to comply with these regulations in order to keep a supply of paper on hand. It is also a violation of Postal Regulations to continue mailing papers which have not been paid for in advance.

In the past we have gone to considerable expense in mailing notices to all subscribers by letter—first class mail. WE CANNOT CONTINUE THIS PRACTICE AND YOU WILL NOT RECEIVE ANY NOTICE IN THE FUTURE.

RENEW PROMPTLY

THIS ADVERTISEMENT AND NOTICES IN THE PAPER, WHICH APPEAR FREQUENTLY, SHOULD BE SUFFICIENT FOR ALL THOSE WHO WISH TO CONTINUE RECEIVING THE PAPER. IF YOUR PAPER DOES NOT COME, YOU MAY KNOW THAT THE TIME IS OUT.

The Wrong Time

By R. H. WILKINSON

A 10:30 on a Thursday night in a small town in Alabama. A detective in a tuxedo called the Elba Police, on the telephone.

"Detective, knock down here to the office," Knox said without preamble. "Things are stirring."

Less than twenty minutes later Knox and an excited Detective Brooks were howling along Boynton street in a taxi. They crossed the Fenway and drove out Brookline Avenue, turning at length into a narrow and more dimly lighted street. Presently Knox directed the driver to pull up. The two officers climbed out, and waited for a moment. The cabbie waited for them, then they stepped inside, followed by Brooks, and closed the door.

The light of the narrow hallway in which they stood, revealed their host to be a powerfully built man of about 40 years.

"You're Beech Tomlin, aren't you?" Knox asked. "I've come from the States."

"Money?" Beech Tomlin's eyes narrowed. "It's a stick-up. I'm taking about the money that was in the brown envelope."

For just a moment the big man's face wavered. He sneered. "You're a guest at it, eh? Well, I wasn't here, see. You can't pull that on me, mister. Now get out!"

"Not just yet, Tomlin," Knox said. "I've come from the States. I've come from the States. I've come from the States."

It seemed an eternity before the big man shrugged his massive shoulders. "O. K. You're a stick-up. I can figure out how you caught on."

Two hours later, back in police headquarters, Detective Brooks was expounding to the desk sergeant.

"It was the damndest thing I ever saw. Les just showed a gun and said, 'The reason that Tomlin blinked in without a squeak was simply because he couldn't see anyone had caught onto their iron-bound alibi.' And when I sprang that one on him about the envelope, it was such a shock he believed anything I told him thereafter."

"As usual, before going home tonight I glanced through the evening papers, and in the classified columns of the Express I ran across an advertisement which said a Beech Tomlin had found a brown envelope on Winter street at 4:30 this afternoon, and that anyone who could identify the valuable contents could have it by calling at the address visited tonight."

"It seemed all right, except for one thing—something that led me to believe Beech Tomlin didn't expect any one to claim the envelope, which, in turn, promoted the idea that such an envelope never existed. Which assumption proved correct, and resulted rather disastrously for the counterfeit gang. At first, friend Tomlin thought I was just a guy trying to collect something by guessing at the contents of the envelope, which made me more sure than ever I was on the right track."

Detective Brooks leaned forward, grinning. "I get it. If the envelope was found at 4:30 in the afternoon, that fact couldn't be published in the evening edition of any Boston paper. Classified ads have to be received several hours before the sheet goes to press."

Knox nodded. "Precisely. It was a first-class shot. For if Tomlin were caught with the counterfeit money, he'd say he found it and advertised for the owner, which fact he could prove." He grinned. "They were almost too sure of the infallibility of their alibi."

There are our ships in the Maritime commission's C series, ranging from the 412-foot C-1 of 7,400 tons to the 580-foot C-4 of 18,700 tons. 25,000-ton passenger ship America, now the army's West Point, is the only one of her class. Nearly a half-dozen boilers driving high-speed steam turbines. A few are diesel-driven. Their lines are sleek, with tall cargo booms fore and aft, and a main superstructure. Conversion to military use is instant in C-type design. The army and navy use them for service of supply, troops, and a large number have been converted to other war uses.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of extending our thanks and appreciation to our friends for their many expressions of sympathy on account of the death of our wife and mother. We also want to thank the doctors and nurses of Edge Hospital, Troy, for the many things they did for her during her sickness there.

By Hugh D. Sexton, County Agent
At the time this article went to press, only 250 German prisoners of war have been made available to the farmers of Coffee County for the peanut harvest.

Approximately 175 farmers have made application for German prisoner help. To supply the needs of these 175 farmers the Agent estimates that it would require 600 German prisoners of war each day from September 12 to October 15.

In addition to these 175 applications, the Agent estimates that there is an equal number of farmers who need help and would use German prisoners of war if they were made available to them.

The Agent is hopeful that more German prisoners of war will be made available to the farmers of Coffee County, but at this writing he has no assurance that this will be done.

BIG VINE—NO PEANUTS
J. D. Farris brought to this office Friday a large Spanish peanut vine which does not contain even one small peanut. On the roots where nuts should be, there is something that looks like blisters or buds that have dried up. Did you ever see anything like it? If so, can you tell what caused it? The vine is healthy and should have had lots of nuts.
